It was my pleasure to have worked with Adam Kugel and the entire crew of Kugel Construction in the building of my new office in 2010.

My wife and I were able to work very closely with Adam during the construction phase of the project and were very pleased with the flow of the entire process. We were able to interact and make changes as we went along and he and his crew offered advice based on their experience in the business, allowing for a comfortable feeling as we progressed through the project.

Adam presented a very professional 'Outline and Timeline', from beginning to end, and his company stayed on track, completing our project as scheduled. I couldn't be more pleased with the final product his company presented us.

I would highly recommend Kugel Construction based on my experience with them.
